Springer And Cohutta Mountains [Chattahoochee National Forest] (National Geographic Trails Illustrated Map)

Synopsis

â ¢ Waterproof â ¢ Tear-Resistant â ¢ Topographic MapAn abundance of recreational opportunities abound in the Chattahoochee National Forest, just north of Atlanta. National Geographicâ s Trails Illustrated map of Springer and Cohutta Mountains delivers unmatched detail and valuable information to assist you in your exploration of these regions of the forest. Expertly researched and created in partnership with local land management agencies, this map features key points of interest including Blue Ridge, Nottely and Conasauga lakes; Fort Mountain and Amicalola state parks; Whissenhunt Mountain; Coosawattee Wildlife Management Area; Ed Jenkins National Recreation Area, and more. Narrow down the best places to visit according to your needs and interests with the handy activity guide. An extensive trail chart will help you choose a trail thatâ s right for your activity level and recreation use whether youâ re traveling by foot, horse, mountain bike, or motorized vehicle. Miles of trails are marked according to their use including the Appalachian, Benton MacKaye, and Pinhoti trails. Scenic byways are noted for those wishing to take in the scenery by car. The map base includes contour lines and elevations for summits, passes and many lakes. Helpful information on Chattahoochee National Forest, Appalachian Trail, safety tips and more is included as well. Some of the many recreation features noted include boat ramps, river and fishing access, interpretive trails, campgrounds, picnic areas, and scenic viewpoints. Every Trails Illustrated map is printed on "Backcountry Tough" waterproof, tear-resistant paper. A full UTM grid is printed on the map to aid with GPS navigation. Other features found on this map include: Amicalola Mountain, Big Frog Wilderness, Blood Mountain Wilderness, Blue Ridge Lake, Brasstown Bald, Brasstown Wilderness, Chattahoochee National Forest, Cherokee National Forest, Cohutta Mountain, Cohutta Wilderness, Ivylog Mountain, Nantahala National Forest, Nottely Lake, Pinnacle Mountain, Rich Mountain Wilderness. My trail name is Rongway though some prefer to use Rongturn. Either way, I get lost. In preparation for the Georgia Death Race, 65 mile run, I decided to buy this map to insure the race wouldn't turn into a 95 mile run or worse. It was easy to read and follow. It was extremely helpful in giving me a directional overview of the trails in advance of the event.

A good map of the north Georgia mountains. The tear and water-proof material is quite good. The map contains some errors with trail distances, but if you look at the scale and calculate yourself, not a huge problem. Would recommend for anyone backpacking or hunting.

I own several maps from National Geographic - Trails Illustrated. As usual this is another quality map. There have been some minor reroutes to the trails since this map was published but with a little common sense it won't be hard to figure out.

This entire series of maps from National Geo is simply amazing. The scale is perfect for planning (backpacking, hiking, and trout fishing for me.) The detail provided, including easy to read contours, features, etc. They even manage to provide coding for different trail uses. Printed on tough paper -- appears to be waterproof, but have not test that yet!

I took a risk in buying these maps hoping to be able to use them for hiking some of the trails; I couldn't imagine how they could show topo details for each trail, but everyone wrote such great reviews I thought maybe the maps had blow-ups of trail areas. Not. These maps are completely useless for trail hiking. They were helpful to some extent to get an overall feel of the area, but each side has only one large area map with a scale of 1 inch = 1 mile, so you can't really get any useful topo map info for specific trails. I ended up printing out hike-specific topo maps from the web. They are a nice quality.

if you are familiar with this map series ...you will be very pleased.very durable, a large area depicted , much info on a variety of outdoor options-- perfect for reference when drivingif you want a light weight map to take on a 2-4 day backpacking hike....use your imagination

I purchased two of the 777 maps.-One for me and one for my race crew. They have great detail. The maps are more than just paper. They seem to be made of a tear proof/water proof material. I look forward to using the 777 on a mountain run next month.

The Georgia Loop Hike is on this map! Thanks !
